Feedback package that contains a feedback form generator. It is easy to use and requires no experience in PHP or web development. Chargée de mission The Feedback package is created to help you overcome the inconvenience of creating a feedback form on your website or web application. This lightweight application allows you to create a feedback form in just a few clicks, with the knowledge of the most common web languages such as PHP or HTML, and you can also add custom descriptions for each field and specify the URL of the feedback form. Version 1.0.0 Date de sortie 2018-03-24 Propriété intérieure 100% privé À propos de DynamicDrive

DynamicDrive was started in June 2006, after the founders had exhausted all available solutions for the needs they had at the time. With two of them having years of experience with PHP, one with extensive server administration experience, and the other with extensive experience with SQL, it was easy for them to understand the direction they needed to take their shared desire for a viable and fully integrated CRM solution. The first product to be released was Spire, a web-based content management system that would allow their customers to post to their own sites, as well as host their websites. Originally based in Harrisburg, PA, DynamicDrive is now based in the southern part of Pennsylvania, close to Baltimore, MD. They now sell web hosting, Windows VPS, email, and other services to help their clients improve their businesses. When someone says Detroit is “the worst city in the world,” they are not necessarily wrong. An ABC News report today, however, suggests that Detroit, in fact, is the best city in the United States. Called “The Best City in America,” the segment lists Detroit as one of the best places to live. (LIST: The Best Cities for a Career in Sports) From The Best City

2.4.2013 Generating reports with PHP

This is the package that will help you create custom reports for your company or organization using your existing PHP code. These reports can be generated in PDF, HTML, CSV and TXT formats and they will be sent to your e-mail address using the results obtained from the MySQL or PostgreSQL databases. The package offers you a powerful PHP library that will simplify the process of creating reports. As with all the applications designed by this developer, you will enjoy a clear and intuitive user interface that will enable you to write code in a shorter time and with greater ease. Feedback Description: In order to generate a report, you need to upload a SQL file that will include the records that you want to analyze. This SQL file can be uploaded to the server using any FTP client or it can be automatically created and uploaded when you run the PHP script. The report is then generated in PDF, HTML, CSV and TXT formats and it is sent to your e-mail address. You can select the HTML code in the final report and then edit it to adjust it to your needs. Feedback Features: Customizes the table column and row sizes. Can generate a link to another file (PDF, HTML, TXT, CSV) Easily combines one or multiple SQL files into one PHP script. Generates code that can be inserted into the HTML file for any errors. The major advantage of this feedback package is that it offers you a structured reporting engine, which will save you time when creating custom reports for your organization or company.
