These files are distributed on a torrent site, which is basically a web server that is full of torrent files. If you want to download a torrent file, you have to download the torrent site's ".torrent" file. Although there are many different types of torrent sites, usually they are categorised into Movies, Music and Games. The long-term objectives of this proposal are to understand, at the molecular level, how the tRNA genetic system functions in Sulfolobus solfataricus. The innovation of this proposal is the introduction of novel techniques and reagents to study protein-tRNA interactions. Through these methods, and the examination of naturally-occurring mutants, the proposal will address mechanisms of tRNA function and tRNA aminoacylation at the molecular level. First, a mini-genome system will be generated from S. solfataricus chromosome 1, using recombineering in Escherichia coli. Specific mutant mini-genomes will be introduced into S. solfataricus cells by homologous recombination and characterized by sequencing and quantitative PCR analyses of tRNA genes, to understand how they are regulated. Second, the sequence of the complete tRNA(Cys) gene will be determined. Next, techniques will be developed to test the role of tRNA(Cys) in posttranscriptional regulation of protein synthesis. Protein-tRNA interactions will be disrupted by mutating tRNA(Cys) and assaying tRNA function. Next, mass spectrometry will be used to study tRNA in specific complexes with ribosomes, to understand how tRNA is posttranslationally modified and charged with amino acids. These studies will be the first, to our knowledge, to define the complete set of modifications in natural tRNAs in Archaea, and provide a more complete understanding of this highly conserved and central cellular process. The proposed studies will open up new approaches in biology, enhancing our understanding of bacterial evolution, in addition to providing a deeper understanding of the molecular details of tRNA function and aminoacylation. This is significant, because tRNA is an essential component of protein translation, and derepression of tRNA function is a recurring theme in cancer and aging.
